

You come from the Elven Kingdom of Orenlas, a small community living among the great forests Southeast of Sembara. Recently, a number unusual and magical monsters have been penetrating the boundaries of your forest. Your community is concerned, and you set out to investigate and warn the other races. You headed west and north, scouting, and discovered signs of some kind of dark magic. A few days ago, near the Sembaran border, you were captured by kobolds, and for the past two days have been held prisoner in a cave.

Orenlas - kind of like Lathlorien but less pure/mystical, more nature oriented/spiritual make cool stuff, ~~song~~ Sing, but also hunt, tend the forest, etc